ANNUAL SUMMER ENCAMPMENT

McGUIRE AFB

NEW JERSEY

18-26 JUNE 1966

DEPARTMENT OF THE AIR FORCE
HEADQUARTERS 438th AIR BASE GROUP (MAC)
McGUIRE AIR FORCE BASE, NEW JERSEY 08641

REPLY TO ATTN OF:

27 Apr 66

SUBJECT: CAP Summer Encampments at McGuire Air Force Base

TO: Distr D (Less Navy)

1. McGuire Air Force Base will host the National Capital CAP Wing from 18 June through 26 June 1966, and the New Jersey Wing Civil Air Patrol Summer Encampment from 10 July through 17 July 1966.

2. The Civil Air Patrol Encampments held at McGuire Air Force Base last year were highly successful. The contributions of the personnel of this base were instrumental in enhancing the Air Force - Civil Air Patrol relationship.

3. Once again we have the opportunity to demonstrate Air Force life to a group of interested young men and women, many of whom are contemplating service careers. The impression which the Civil Air Patrol Cadets gain during their encampment will be determined, to a great extent, by the cooperation, support, and understanding which McGuire personnel at all echelons lend to the program. You may be called upon to provide various types of support, including training lectures, orientation flights, guest speakers and instructors. These should be given sympathetic consideration and the program supported to the greatest extent practicable.

4. To foster awareness and understanding of the Civil Air Patrol Program, the encampments at McGuire Air Force Base will be given wide local publicity using all media available. I am confident that with the cooperation and support of all personnel, this year's encampments at McGuire will be even more successful than those we have enjoyed in the past.

ENCAMPMENT ORDERS and INSTRUCTIONS

Encampment Personnel, National Capital Wing, Civil Air Patrol

1. GENERAL

McGuire Air Force Base will be your host for the National Capital Wing Civil Air Patrol, 1966 Cadet Summer Encampment, and it is the express desire of this headquarters that all personnel of the National Capital Wing conduct themselves in a manner which will reflect credit on this organization. This can only be accomplished with your fullest cooperation and undivided attention to the schedule of activity attached herewith. It is to be noted that tardiness or absence from any activity without the approval of the Encampment Commander will not be tolerated. McGuire Air Force Base is the headquarters for the 438th Air Base Group (MAC); the 1611th ATW so therefore it is extremely important that uniform regulations and military courtesy be scrupulously followed, and that you carry out your assigned duties in a smart and soldierly manner. It is further desired that all persons present a neat and tidy appearance at all times, with particular attention given to uniforms, which are clean and well pressed, shoes which shine and hair which is neatly combed. Male cadets should be clean shaven.

2. RULES OF CONDUCT. By careful perusal and observation of the following instructions, your stay at this encampment can be both enjoyable and educational.

a. All personnel will not:

- (1) Use loud or profane language at any time.
- (2) Litter any part of the base with refuse, paper or cigarettes. Facilities provided for that purpose will be used.
- (3) Contact the base command or any section thereof.
- (4) Request personal transportation. There isn't any.
- (5) Request the cashing of checks.
- (6) Use the headquarters telephone for personal calls.

b. All personnel will:

- (1) Keep quarters, latrines and showers neat and clean.
- (2) Keep all wearing apparel, uniforms and shoes in the locker provided for that purpose.

(3) Make up bunks properly and be prepared for daily inspection and bed checks.

(4) Use the headquarters for official business only. The Encampment Staff is extremely busy. BE BRIEF.

c. Cadets:

(1) Will carry Civil Air Patrol Membership Cards on their person at all times.

(2) Will wear fatigues to all scheduled activities, unless notified by the Encampment Commander to the contrary.

(3) Will march in formation to mess and such other activities as may be designated.

(4) May not leave the Encampment Area, except for scheduled activities, without written permission of the Encampment Commander or his designated representative.

(5) Are authorized to attend base theater and purchase supplies at the Base Exchange upon presentation of their Cadet Membership Card. Supplies purchased at the BX (unless otherwise notified by authorities on base) will be limited to toilet articles, candy and writing materials plus uniform requirements. A BX purchase list will be posted on the Encampment Bulletin Board.

(6) Sick call will be held at 0800 hrs daily at Dispensary that will be designated. Emergencies will be handled as they arise.

(7) Cadets are not authorized to attend the Officers and NCO clubs.

(8) Mess and Chapel schedules will be posted on Encampment Bulletin Board.

d. Seniors:

(1) CAP commissioned officers and noncommissioned officers, when not on duty, may attend their respective clubs.

3. Training Program.

a. A separate schedule is provided for the encampment, which lists all of the subjects contained in the Formal Training Program. Additions or changes will be announced and posted on Encampment Bulletin Board. Every cadet will check the Bulletin Board at least once each morning and afternoon.

b. Orientation flights will have top priority over other scheduled activities. These will be scheduled as the availability of aircraft and crews permit. This will be posted on Encampment Bulletin Board.

c. Saturday, 25 June 1966 will be graduation day. Exercises will be held at 1100 hrs and any other activities will be posted on the Encampment Bulletin Board or will be given to you by your Tactical Officer.

Cadets attending this encampment may invite their parents and friends to attend the Graduation Ceremonies but the Encampment Commander must have a list of the names of parents or friends coming to the base for the Graduation Ceremonies so that reservations may be made for them if they desire to stay over.

4 . Conclusion:

Any infraction of these orders and instructions on the part of any individual or group of individuals may result in instant dismissal from the encampment and return to home station. All matters that may arise not covered herein will be referred to the Encampment Commander for decision.

DANIEL E. EVANS, JR
Colonel, CAP
Commander

HISTORY OF MCGUIRE AIR FORCE BASE

The modern history of McGuire Air Force Base started on September 17, 1949, when the Air Force installation was officially dedicated in honor of Major Thomas B. McGuire, Jr., one of the leading fighter aces of World War II. Prior to the dedication it was known as the Fort Dix Army Air Field.

The field itself had its origin back in 1937 when it was a single dirt strip used by the Army Air Corps, under control of nearby Fort Dix. During the military buildup in 1939 - 1949, facilities were added for the increased flying operations and McGuire took on the appearance of an active air base.

At the outbreak of World War II, it was first used as an anti-submarine patrol base. It was later changed to an Air Transport Command operation, ferrying both planes and personnel to and from the base to theaters of operations in Europe and Africa. The missions and commands on the air base changed numerous times in the 1941 - 1949 period.

At the time of the dedication, the air base was under the control of the 91st Reconnaissance Wing. The 52d Fighter Wing, formerly based at Mitchel Air Force Base, New York, then assumed control of the installation. During the Korean conflict, the base was under the control of the 560th Air Base Group with the 4709th Air Defense Wing as the major tenant and two fighter squadrons, the 2d and the 5th, the flying units.

On July 1, 1954, the Military Air Transport Service officially assumed Command of the base and the 1611th Air Transport Wing became its parent unit. In 1955 Headquarters, Atlantic Division, MATS (since redesignated to its present Eastern Transport Air Force, MATS ) moved from Westover Air Force Base, Massachusetts. With the assumption of command by MATS, the base was destined to become the largest military aerial port on the coast.

Today, McGuire Air Force Base covers 5,000 acres and houses some 15,000 military personnel and their dependents. In addition to its present status as a major MAC base, it also is host to many USAF commands, including the Air Defense Command (Headquarters, New York Air Defense Sector), the Continental Air Command, and the Tactical Air Command. McGuire units also include elements of the Army and the Navy, and New Jersey's Air National Guard.

MISSION AND ORGANIZATION

McGuire Air Force Base is under the control of the 438 Military Airlift Wing, a unit of the 21st Air Force, Military Airlift Command. It is located 18 miles southeast of Trenton, the capitol of the state of New Jersey.

This base is unique in that the majority of the major commands in the United States Air Force are represented here in some thirty-nine tenant organizations. These are: The Air Defense Command, the Tactical Air Command, The Air Force Communications System, as well as the Military Airlift Command.

With this many commands present at McGuire, the missions vary in many areas. There are, however, two major missions performed by McGuire units. These are the Military Airlift Command missions, and the Air Defense Command missions.

The first SAGE direction center ever to become operational in our nation's air defense force is located at McGuire. The 21st Air Division, formerly known as NYADS, maintains its headquarters here. The 21st Division complex includes a SAGE (Semi-Automatic Ground Environment) direction center, the 539th Fighter Interceptor Squadron equipped with 1500 m.p.h. F-106 fighter interceptors and the 46th Air Defense Missile Squadron equipped with the BOMARC within the McGuire AFB area. These organizations are responsible for the air defense of this metropolitan area consisting of 25,000,000 persons.

The primary mission of the base and of the Military Airlift Command is to provide global airlift to elements of our country's military services as directed by the Department of Defense.

McGuire is equally noted as the largest military aerial port on the east coast. During peak periods, the base has handled as many as 70,000 military men and their dependents in one month.

In providing global airlift support, the 438 Military Airlift Wing operates, the C-135 Stratolifter jet, and the C-130 Hercules transport aircraft. The Stratolifter is capable of carrying a load of 126 fully equipped troops over a distance of 4,500 miles.

Our MAC aircraft primarily fly the North Atlantic Area. However, under the global mission concept, our aircraft have flown as far north as Thule, Greenland, as far south as New Zealand, east to the Congo and west to Japan.

There are 16 MAC organizations in support of our vital mission of transporting military troops and cargo to any point on the globe.

Personnel and aircraft of the 438 Military Airlift Wing and the Military Airlift Command have participated in practically every United States Air Force major airlift involving troop and special cargo hauling, since its activation.
